Technical View – MCX Gold

Gold approached $2,600 per ounce on Monday, rebounding from its steepest weekly drop since 2021 as the US dollar's rally stalled and safe-haven demand rose amid escalating Ukraine war tensions. On the domestic front, MCX Gold managed to sustain above the key level of 75000 and ended the session with the formation of a bullish candle on the daily chart. A sustained move above the 75300 level could trigger further short covering, propelling prices toward 76000/77000/77600 levels. On the downside, key support for MCX Gold is placed at 74750/74300 levels. Traders are advised to use strict stop losses, as volatility may remain high due to ongoing geopolitical issues.
